

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.

2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—Mrs. MOLLIE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.

Hard-Won Bride.

I know a man not far from Samson's country who lived a maiden outside his own people and district. When he went to see her he had to take other horsemen with him lest the young men of the maiden's town should resent his visits according to the rude customs of the countryside, and play their tricks upon him and his father. When the day came to claim his bride the father and bridegroom were obliged, according to the customs, to surfeit the whole town with feasts of food, and camel loads of rice and native butter were consumed in the process. Then followed feats of physical strength in which the bridegroom and his friends were forced to prove their superiority before they could secure the bride and carry her outside her native town. It Isn't Your Town, It's You.

If you want to live in the kind of a town—
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't the town—it's you.
Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead,
When everyone works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while make your personal stake
Your neighbors can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't the town—it's you.

PINIONED IN TREE CROTCH BY 3,000-POUND LIMB

Hundred Men Work For Hours Before Injured Man Is Released.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 24.—For two hours and a half more than 100 men worked frantically to save the life of Roy Reidenour, who was caught forty feet above the ground in a large tree from which he was sawing the top. When the top of the tree was ready to fall Reidenour pushed his weight against it, but instead of falling, it slipped down the trunk of the tree, catching the young man in the crotch of a tree limb. With nearly 3,000 pounds of weight resting upon him, Reidenour was held for two hours and a half while telephone linemen and men, used to handling heavy timber worked to release him. When this had been done and he had been removed to a hospital it was found that he had been internally injured and there is little probability of his recovery.

ESSENTIALS FOR IDEAL RAM

Should Possess Character as Indicated by Bold Carriage, Strong Front and Masculine Face.

There are many essentials for an ideal ram. First, of course, is that he must be a sire. A breeder, if you will.

Granted this condition, there are many other important features. He must possess character as indicated by bold carriage, strong front and a "strey" look. His face should be bold, strong and masculine.

These characteristics are to be taken as indicative of ability to produce these characteristics in his offspring.

However, these characteristics must be good ones; for a sire that possesses masculinity and character, strong ability to produce his characteristics, must have good ones to produce, or his influence is bad.

A masculine ram of bad conformation is worse than one lacking in masculinity of the same quality otherwise; because he is more likely to produce his faulty faculties.

Granted that we desire the good qualities, what are they? We must have a broad muzzle and nose, giving plenty of breathing room and lots of room for the mill, the teeth.

The neck should be short, strong and muscular. The chest should be deep, broad and capacious, giving to the vital organs plenty of room.

The back should be broad, muscular and strong—a bridge as it were, to carry all the middle of the body.

The loins should be broad and deep. The most valuable meat is produced there. The rump should be long and wide at the tail. The leg should be heavy and the twist full.

Supporting all this should be good, strong legs, able to carry the body and pasterns and toes that are strong. The legs should be as short as possible.

The daylight under a sheep could just as well be meat worth eight cents a pound.

He should be covered all over with fleece of wool, heavy and very fine, long and of good quality, showing neither brown nor black fiber.

Collapse at Owensboro.

The worst lot of tobacco that has been brought to the Owensboro market yet has been seen on the loose lot floors during the past two days. The weed is not only in bad condition, but the prices realized are very distressing. At the Lancaster house, the sales aggregated about 162,000 pounds with an average of less than $5. Fully 50,000 pounds were rejected, as the farmers could not stand for the prices received for their tobacco. It is claimed that the fact tobacco is selling lower now than at any time this season is no fault of the buyers, as they are paying well for the weed offered, which is in very bad condition.

WOMEN POLL BIGGER PROPORTION THAN MEN

Did Not Decide a Single Chicago Nomination.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Women voters who cast their ballot yesterday for the first time in a Chicago mayoralty election, polled 77 per cent of their registration compared with 70 per cent for the men according to tabulations today.

In no instance of importance, however, did the women's vote decide a contest. Robert M. Sweitzer, who won the democratic nomination for mayor over Carter H. Harrison, received his full quota of women's votes in spite of a campaign argument of the Harrison supporters that Sweitzer favored an "open town."

In the republican contest, Judge Harry Olson was given nearly 7,000 more female votes than his successful opponent, William Hale Thompson, although the latter made his campaign largely on the ground he was instrumental in securing the first children's playground and favored small parks for children.

Votes cast for Mr. Harrison, son of Carter H. Harrison, sr., who also was mayor of Chicago for five terms, totaled 104,893. Women cast 36,207 of them. For Mr. Sweitzer 182,534 ballots were cast, 57,666 by women. Sweitzer's plurality was 77,551.

William H. Thompson's plurality over Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court, for the republican nomination for mayor, was 2,325.

TRIBUTE TO BOOK OF JOB

Recognized by Thomas Carlyle as One of the Great Masterpieces of Literary Work.

I call the Book of Job, apart from all the theories about it, one of the grandest things ever written. One feels, indeed, as if it were not Hebrew—such a noble universality, different from noble patriotism or sectarianism, reigns in it. A noble book! All men's book! It is our first, oldest statement of the never-ending problem—man's destiny and God's ways with him here on this earth. And all in such free, flowing outlines; grand in its simplicity and its epic melody and repose of reconciliation. There is the seeing eye, the mildly understanding heart. So true every way; true eyesight and vision for all things, material things no less than spiritual. The horse, "thou hast clothed his neck with thunder!"—"he laughs at the shaking of the spear!" Such living likenesses were never since drawn. Sublime sorrow, sublime reconciliation; oldest choral melody as of the heart of mankind; so soft and great—as the summer midnight, as the world with its seas and stars! There is nothing written, I think, in the Bible or out of it, of equal literary merit.

The Soiled Skirt.

The evening bells was ringing and the streets were filled with dew. When downtown came a working girl to meet her lover true. He said that he would take her to a moving picture show. And, as she waited for him, she was eager for to go. At last he came and met her as she stood there on the street. He gave her the once over from her head down to her feet. "Say, Mame," he said, "yer skirt looks bum, for it is torn and patched. Yer waist is pretty decent, and I will pass up yer hat. But I can't go out with a dame who wears a skirt like that!" The poor girl looked down at her skirt and saw the ragged hem; She never thought her fellow would say cruel words like them. At last she raised her head and though the tears was in her eye, She bravely faced that fellow and did make this here reply:

Chorus.

"I know you now for what you are, and I will go my way; You are ashamed of me because my skirt ain't new and gay. Your words is awful cruel and you don't know how they hurt The loving heart that beats beneath this soiled and ragged skirt!" —Mayfield Messenger.

Head Stopped Up? Can't Breathe?

Try the Vick Vap-O-Rub Treatment

Applied in Salve Form Over Throat and Chest Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

Vapor treatments are best for inflammations of the air passages. The vapors carry the medication direct to the inflamed surfaces without disturbing the stomach, as internal medicines will do. A very convenient vapor treatment is a good application of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest, covered with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled with every breath, opening the air passages, loosening the phlegm, and healing the raw surfaces. For deep chest colds, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.
